6th Global Forum on Reinventing Government

organizers and date

The government of the Republic of Korea, in partnership with the United Nations, will be hosting the 6th Global Forum on Reinventing Government to be held in Seoul from May 24-27, 2005. On behalf of the Korean Government, I am pleased to invite you to this meaningful event.

The first of its series to convene in Asia, the 6th Forum will focus on the overarching theme "Toward Participatory and Transparent Governance." Attending the Forum will be representatives of 191 Member States of the United Nations and renowned experts from international organizations, business, academia and civil society.

participants invited

background

Today, the key actors of governance—government, business and civil society—are increasingly joining forces to reinvent government by increasing participation and transparency. Against such backdrop, the 6th Forum will provide a valuable opportunity for participants to strengthen cooperation for building good governance at home and for reaching the Millennium Development Goals in the 21st century.

aim

The Korean Government and the United Nations have been working closely to organize the 6th Forum, aiming to make it a great success. Looking forward to seeing you in the dynamic capital of Korea, I cordially invited you to the vibrant exchange of ideas and experiences at the Forum, which will surely generate fresh momentum for better governance across the globe.

Lee Hae-Chan[1]

Prime Minister, Republic of Korea
Chairman of the National Committee for the 6th Global Forum
